

TILBURY MEADOWS

P E D I G R E E B E E F

Home reared - locally prepared

Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall - The River Cottage Meat Book

"To my mind, the best beef you can buy, in terms of eating quality and welfare standards, will always be from a good grass-fed suckler herd of a British Pedigree beef breed."

The British Hereford breed is renowned for its succulent, finely grained beef. The superb taste comes from its natural marbling - a distinguishing feature that is key to the meat's tenderness, juiciness and flavour.

We care passionately about the contentment of our suckler herd because this always provides the best beef

- The Tilbury Herefords graze conservation grassland in the Colne Valley
- Pedigree registered British horned Herefords
- All forage and feed has no chemical fertiliser or artificial inputs
- Local butchery and preparation

Working in partnership with Burton's Butchers